PROJECTS EARLY OCTOBER 2016

WITH FLYING COLORS
PRÄLAT-DIEHL-SCHULE · GROß-GERAU · GERMANY

Prälat-Diehl-Schule is a grammar school attended by students belonging to forms 5 to 13 with a strong emphasis on music. Rooted in the universal language of notes, the school has an international outlook, with student exchange programs from all Europe, USA and Ecuador.

With a history in education going back to the 18th Century, the School went through a renovation project in 2014 designed by Loewer + Partner, which brought a minimalistic style to the interiors.

The rich colour palette for the floorings in the classes is achieved thanks to our own Grain and Nd/Uni (in two special custom-made tones) floorings, for a total of more than 6000sqm.

“It is a free colour choice of four tones” explains the architect Gerhard Dallendörfer, “but not selected by function or colour control systems, more in a seemingly random kind of way. Thus we could give each room its own atmosphere”.
