

XT Stair Nosings

With over 35 years' experience of developing products in line with building standards and working alongside expert bodies, you can trust Spectrum to provide products that work.

Accidents on stairs can be fatal and the cost could be significant!
Most stair accidents occur on the descent. As the tread becomes narrower, the risk of slip becomes greater. This is further increased if the tread surface becomes wet. Or there is a clear lack of visual contrast at the step edge. And this is not always obvious.

Spectrum XT Stair Edgings provide an effective solution to reducing these risks. Slip resistance is provided where it is needed most, reducing the risk of slip even on narrow treads!

Insert material is available for all interior conditions. And a range of colours is available in order to achieve visual contrast. You can be sure that Spectrum XT Stair Edgings meet all the latest building standards and guidance, so don't take the risk - Specify Spectrum XT.
